- iv. Bridgemates and bidding boxes
 1. The player using the Bridgemate may wipe down the exterior of their Bridgemate before commencement of play.
 2. To lessen the contacts, only one player at the table should use the Bridgemate (either North or South, usually North).
 3. After a score has been entered the score should be shown to a player from East/West and, after being verbally concurred, the player handling the Bridgemate should enter the acceptance.
 4. After completion of the final round, the Bridgemate will be wiped down by the person who was using it before being returned to the case.
 5. Bidding boxes will remain stationary at the tables. Players may choose to wipe down their bidding box when they arrive at their table. East West players who would prefer to carry their own bidding box throughout the game rather than use the bidding box at the table, may obtain one from the central supply area and use it throughout the game.

v. Duplicate Boards

The Club has several sets of duplicate boards.

1. The board sets will be rotated so that no set is re-used for at least one week, a length which exceeds the latency period of the coronavirus.

vi. Cards

1. The cards are normally contained within the duplicate boards, except during play. It is not feasible to prevent players from handling cards, however, at the player's option, latex or nitrile gloves (supplied by the player) may be used to avoid contacting the cards.
2. The rotation of the board sets as outlined above will provide also to protect the cards in that the rotation cycle exceeds the latency period of the coronavirus.

- i. This safety plan will be sent by email to all members for whom we have an email address.
- ii. The plan will be available on site in hard copy while it is in effect.
